

ADVERSARIAL ASSESSMENT

THE BEST DEFENSE REQUIRES A STRONG OFFENSE

IDENTIFY AND RESOLVE ATTACK PATHS BEFORE THEY ARE INFILTRATED

Digital initiatives and the rapidly changing technology landscape create vital business opportunities for organizations. They also introduce risk as they expand the attack surface and add new entry paths for threat actors to exploit.

You can't necessarily predict when and where adversaries will attack and what tactics they'll use. But taking a look at your environment from an attackers' perspective will help you direct your cybersecurity efforts more effectively.

The Reveald Adversarial Assessment enables companies to reduce risk by focusing risk resolution efforts where they matter.

While most organizations focus on defense tactics to find and address threats that have already entered the network, the Reveald Adversarial Assessment helps you take the offense – with strong, proactive exposure management measures that shut the door to risk in the first place.

Reveald assesses your environment to determine the types of adversaries you face and their common tactics. This includes inherent risk based on your industry, technology infrastructure, and other factors such as third parties.

Our expert Risk Hunters identify the vulnerabilities and exposures across your IT/OT environment that have the potential of being exploited. Not all are created equal, and we help you prioritize the vulnerabilities and exposures that would have the highest impact on your business based on their criticality.

We utilize threat intelligence sources to analyze and deliver comprehensive reporting and visualizations on the most likely and available attack paths to critical assets – along with resolution plans to eliminate those paths – before infiltration ever happens.

KEY BENEFITS

Enables IT and security teams instead of overloading them.

Provides internal and external attack surface visibility across business and systems.

Amplifies remediation capabilities to resolve critical exposure points.

Generates detailed reporting and recommendations to rapidly eliminate attack paths and reduce business risk.

RISK HUNTING IN ACTION

TAKE ON CYBER RISK BEFORE IT CAN IMPACT YOU

Attackers constantly evolve their tactics and look for new opportunities to exploit across your growing attack surface. Their efforts can compromise everything – from your information to your day-to-day business operations to customer trust.

The Reveald Adversarial Assessment supplements your defensive protection activities (e.g., antivirus, SIEM tools, etc.) with continuous exposure management – an effective cyber offense approach that drives risk reduction tied to business outcomes. Our risk hunters proactively identify attack paths and give you a plan to shut them down – before an attack happens.

The Reveald Adversarial Assessment helps you:

- Understand potential adversaries and common techniques
- Think like an attacker to recognize how system vulnerabilities and exposures can be used against you
- Measure the business impact of discovered exposures and attack paths to prioritize and remediate based on criticality and risk.

ABOUT REVEALD

Reveald is the only managed services company to offer a holistic approach to cybersecurity focused on the offense plus defense continuum to maximize risk reduction for clients. From operationalized continuous exposure management to comprehensive managed defense to moving beyond remediation to full resolution of risk and threat issues, Reveald solves the people, processes, and technology equation to deliver proven business outcomes.
